CRMC ANNOUNCES “ALL-STAR” EMPLOYEES

Cherokee Regional Medical Center (CRMC) is proud to recognize Brett James and Kim Anderson as CRMC “All-Star” Employees for the months of January and February respectively.

James has been employed at CRMC for almost 8 years as a maintenance mechanic in the CRMC Maintenance Department. As stated in his nomination letter, “Brett always goes the extra mile when working on special projects and helping patients, visitors, and employees.”

Brett and his wife, Korriane, live in Cherokee with their two children, Lennon (5) and Viola (2).

Anderson has been employed at CRMC for 2 years as a housekeeping aide in the Housekeeping Department. According to her nomination letters, “Kim is always smiling and says “hi” to everyone. She is hardworking and takes the initiative to get things done. Kim has a very positive attitude and is constantly moving and motivating others.”

Kim has lived in Cherokee for the last three years after moving to the area from Chicago. She has three adult daughters; Ragan, Tasha and Gabrielle, along with a 12 year old grandson. Kim is also anxiously awaiting the arrival of a new granddaughter in June.

“We are thrilled to recognize Brett and Kim as CRMC “All-Star” Employees,” says Kent Lundquist, Vice President of Development and Support Services at CRMC. “Both take great pride in helping patients as well as fellow co-workers. They are very hardworking and tremendous assets to our organization.”

Congratulations Brett and Kim!
